

My Journey
Through Art

Prasanth- Where Faces Fade, Feelings Remain.

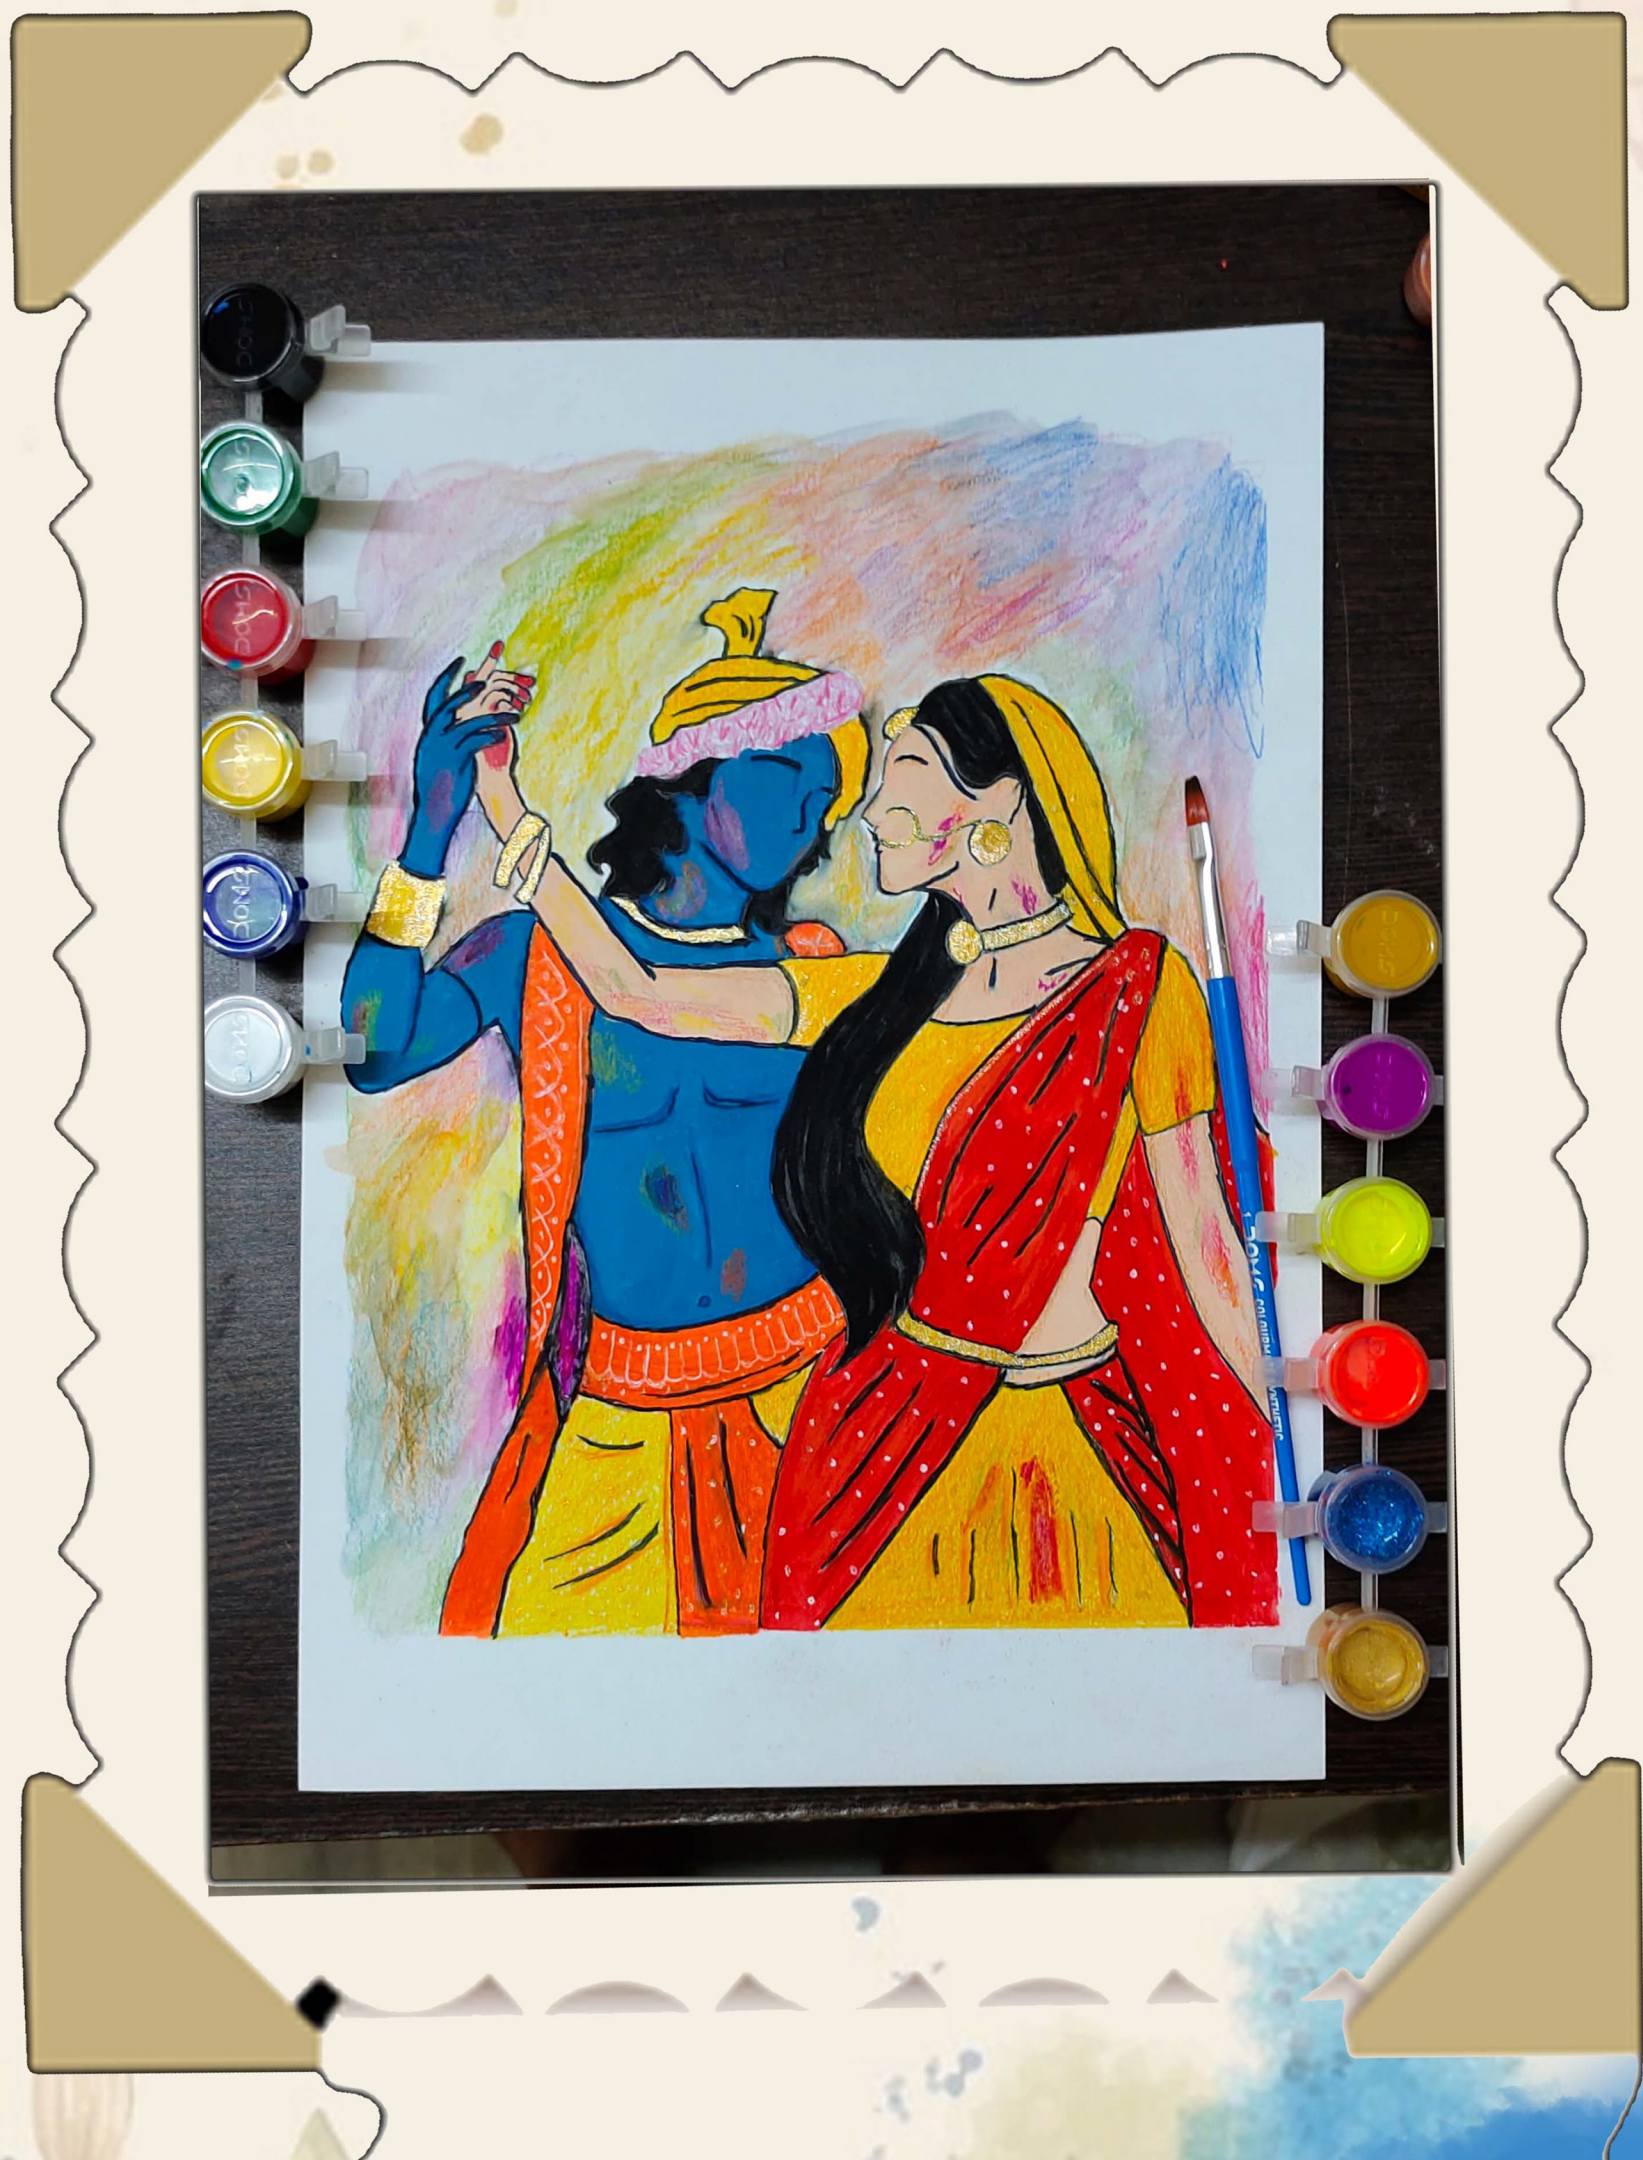

Drawing has been a part of me since childhood. I used to fill pages with colors and lines, simply for the joy of it. During my school years, I was lucky to receive a few prizes for my artwork, which gave me confidence and kept me going. Over time, sketching became more than just a hobby, it became my favorite way to express what words couldn't.

Even today, whenever I find a little free time, I pick up my pencil and let my imagination flow.
