TATTIKOTA HARSHINI - THE PENCIL SKETCH COLLECTIVE

Drawing sketches and painting is a hobby that holds a special place in my life, something I was fortunate to learn from my father. From a young age, I watched him bring life to paper with simple lines and colours, and that inspired me to explore my own creativity. Over time, this hobby became more than just an interest—it turned into a personal escape. Whenever I feel stressed, overwhelmed, or emotionally low, I turn to drawing as a way to calm my mind. The act of sketching or painting helps me focus, express feelings I can't put into words, and find a sense of peace. It also reminds me of the bond I share with my father, making every stroke on the canvas even more meaningful.
